

Say Stalin Asks Economic Harmony to Prevent War

Parliament Labor Men Told Russia Wants Hookup With U. S., and Britain

By LARRY ALLEN
Warsaw, Oct. 18 (AP)—Eight labor members of the British Parliament say Prime Minister Stalin told them when they visited him in Russia recently that he wished to resolve political and economic issues with the United States and Britain and impressed them as having no thought of war.

(An Associated Press dispatch from Warsaw originally quoted the Britons as saying Stalin told them he had no thought of making war. No direct quotation was supplied on this angle, however, and the statement was revised later to say Stalin impressed them as having no thought of war.)

Konnie Zilliacus, head of the eight-member delegation, said last night that Stalin said that if America and Britain did not want to settle differences "we shall wait until they regain their reason."

Desires Close Trade—Stalin's "will at Sochi on the Black Sea after a tour of Moscow to study Russian trade unions and factories," quoted the prime minister as saying in a two-hour interview.

"We want as close trade relations with Great Britain as possible. We are interested in the development of trade relations between our two countries."

"The sooner the two states agree, the better for good partners in common work."

"Just as the Soviet Union has always stood for improvement of political and economic relations with all countries, it now stands for such improvement, beginning with the United States and Great Britain."

"If these countries wish to improve relations with the Soviet Union, they will be welcomed. We shall be prepared to go forward to meet them irrespective of what the economic setup may be in those countries."

"Cooperation between countries having different economic systems is possible. That already has been proved by experience."

"If however they do not want to improve their relations with the Soviet Union, we shall have to do without them. We shall nevertheless be able to carry on."

Patient People
"We will wait until they regain their reason and understand co-operation between nations is necessary. We can wait. We are a patient people."

Washington, Stalin's remarks were received with cautious reserve. One reaction was that "it will be interesting" to see whether his words are translated into "more cooperative action" by the Soviet delegation to the United Nations.

(American government leaders have expressed themselves as fairly certain that Russia does not want and will not risk a war at this time, although they are equally convinced the Russians will press their aims by every political means available up to the point of an open and formal break with the United States.)

Zilliacus, a leader of the British Labor Party's Left Wing, told a news conference here earlier that the creation of a Communist "information bureau" in Belgrade by the Communists, parties of nine European nations, was an answer to what he termed the threat of American imperialism and pressure on Europe.

He asserted that the American Congress probably would not approve any further credits to Britain "except under intolerable political conditions."

Zilliacus said that before seeing Stalin the parliamentary group had a three-hour talk with Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov.

The legislators, who will go to Lower Silesia today and then fly to London Monday for the opening of Parliament, said Zilliacus, Arthur C. C. Geoffrey H. C. B. Arthur Joseph Champion, Frederick Lee, Benjamin T. Parkin, Thomas George Thomas and Harry White.

Before joining the National Board in 1941, Mrs. Sutton was director of the U.S.O.-Y.W.C.A. at Elkins, Md. for two years. Prior to that time she taught physical education at Greenwich Academy, Greenwich, Y.W.C.A. and served as chairman for its Health Education Department for six years.

Mrs. Sutton graduated from Wellesley College and received a master's degree in science in graduate work there.

First Test Vote On Marshall Plan Nearing in U.N.

American Delegation Is Confident of Piling Up an Impressive Majority

By LARRY HAUCK
Lake Success, Oct. 18 (AP)—The first test vote on Secretary of State George C. Marshall's proposal to overhaul United Nations machinery comes up today and the American delegation was confident of piling up an impressive majority.

The initial balloting "lineup in the 57-nation political committee" (11 a. m.), was expected on the question of establishing a drafting group to iron out differences between the U. S. proposal and a series of amendments from countries supporting the plan generally.

Only Russia and her supporters have spoken against the plan for a year-around "Little Assembly" in debate this week and American sources based the optimism on general endorsement from a long list of delegations, including Britain, France and China.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko made it plain yesterday that none of the softening and clarifying amendments would have any effect on Russia. He called the plan illegal and contrary to the U.N. charter and said so far as the Assembly scheme was concerned the Soviet Union does not have "the word compromise in its glossary."

Gromyko coupled his statement with another sharp attack on the United States and said this move was "all part of an American plan to 'dictate' world policy. His bitter charges renewed speculation that Russia and her satellites might boycott the 'Little Assembly' should it finally be set up."

The Russian-American battle over the Greek case was assured when Poland introduced a resolution for consideration by the General Assembly when it goes back into plenary session Monday at Flushing Meadow. The Polish proposal was a virtual carbon copy of one submitted twice by Russia and subsequently defeated in the Security Council and Political Committee.

The Polish motion, offered as a counter move to a committee-approved American resolution providing for a U.N. watchdog committee in the Balkans, called on the Assembly to recommend that "all foreign troops be immediately withdrawn and all foreign military missions, instructors and other military experts be recalled immediately."

Forest Fires Close Adirondacks to Public

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 18 (AP)—Forest fires smoldering in 22 scattered locations today as warm dry weather prolonged the hazard that only soaking rains can relieve. There have been 85 fires this week.

A U. S. weather forecaster today said possibility of showers today and tomorrow but "not enough rain in sight to make any difference."

The Adirondack Mountains were closed to the public last night by Governor Dewey's order. Conservation Commissioner Perry B. Duryea said he would ask the governor to extend the ban to other areas if the drought continued.

Pheasant Season Opens Monday if Woods Stay Open

Unless a last-minute proclamation from Governor Thomas E. Dewey closing all woodlands of the state to hunters in the interim between now and Monday, residents of Ulster county will be permitted to hunt pheasants at the opening of the season, the local office of the New York State Conservation said today.

The governor closed the Adirondacks to hunters earlier this week, but agents of the conservation department reported that despite the prolonged dry spell, that underbrush and foliage in general in the Catskills, was not considered dangerous at this time.

The Conservation Department reported today that it had received no reports of any pheasants within the bounds of Ulster county, and none were reported in the immediate region, to date this fall.

Plans Completed For Youth Rally Here This Evening

1,000 People Expected to Hear Attorney James Bennett at City Auditorium

Upwards of 1,000 young people, parents and lawyers from throughout the Hudson Valley are expected to attend the big youth rally this evening at the municipal auditorium starting at 7:45 o'clock when James E. Bennett, famous New York attorney, will deliver a timely address.

Attorney Bennett is a world traveler, speaker and youth confederate, and he has addressed groups throughout this country and Canada.

The Rev. Merrill Dence, a young man whose father is a Baptist minister in this state, will direct the community songfest at the opening of the rally.

It was announced today that the youth chorus members will meet at the auditorium no later than 6:30 p. m., for rehearsal. Members of the Ulster County Christian Endeavor will assist the chorus.

Committees in charge of the night's function include the Rev. Kenneth Pearsall, the Rev. Charles Keegan, Mrs. Mavis Winter, music; the Rev. Paul Foster, Rev. Edward V. Winder, French Hansen, Mrs. Walter H. French, Mrs. Joseph Longo, publicity; the Rev. L. R. Guier, the Rev. Walter White, Calvin Pratt, finance; the Rev. Walter Donaldson, head usher; Dean E. Bohnke, Raymond Scherhorn, John Moore, William Illman, Joseph Longo, William Greene, Edwin and Ivan DeHoff, ushers; the Rev. E. J. Klaus and the Rev. George W. Dunn and the Rev. Milton Davis, declaration.

A special invitation is extended to all lawyers of the Hudson Valley to hear Attorney Bennett this evening.

Lyons Awarded $5,500 for Work, Labor, Services

Action Brought Against Grace Van B. Roberts; Negligence Action Commences

George Lyons of Poughkeepsie, former employee at the Roberts farm in Highland, was awarded a total of $5,500 Friday in Supreme Court for work, labor and services in connection with action which he brought against Grace Van B. Roberts, administratrix, etc., contending that there was money due him for wages and services performed since 1919.

The matter was submitted to the jury by Justice Francis Bergan under three separate parts. The first item was for services from 1919 to 1940, a period which normally would come under the statute of limitations. Justice Bergan left the question of whether Move Begins for 70 Temporary Workers On City Jobs to Take Examinations For Regular Positions With B.P.W.

Bread Will Go Up One Cent Here Beginning Monday

Loaf of Bread Boosted to 16 Cents; Out of Town Bakeries Now Charge 17 Cents

The increase in price of wheat, coupled with the probable shortage due to export, will reflect next week in the household's purchase of bread locally. Beginning Monday the price of bread will go up one cent to 16 cents, a condition which has existed in many communities for the past several days.

It was stated today, by a local baker that the increase of flour to $9 per hundred made immediate increase in the price of bread necessary.

For the past several days out of town bakeries have been charging 17 cents for a loaf of bread, a two-cent increase. Whether this two cent increase in the retail price of bread will be continued by the out of town bakeries in the face of a one cent increase by local bakeries was a question which the local bakers were seeking an answer today.

One large baker today stated that much of the waste of bread could be eliminated by the proper care of bread after it reached the hands of the consumer. After removing the bread needed for a meal, the baker said, it should again be carefully closed and the loaf of bread placed in the refrigerator. "If this is done bread can be kept fresh for four days," said the baker.

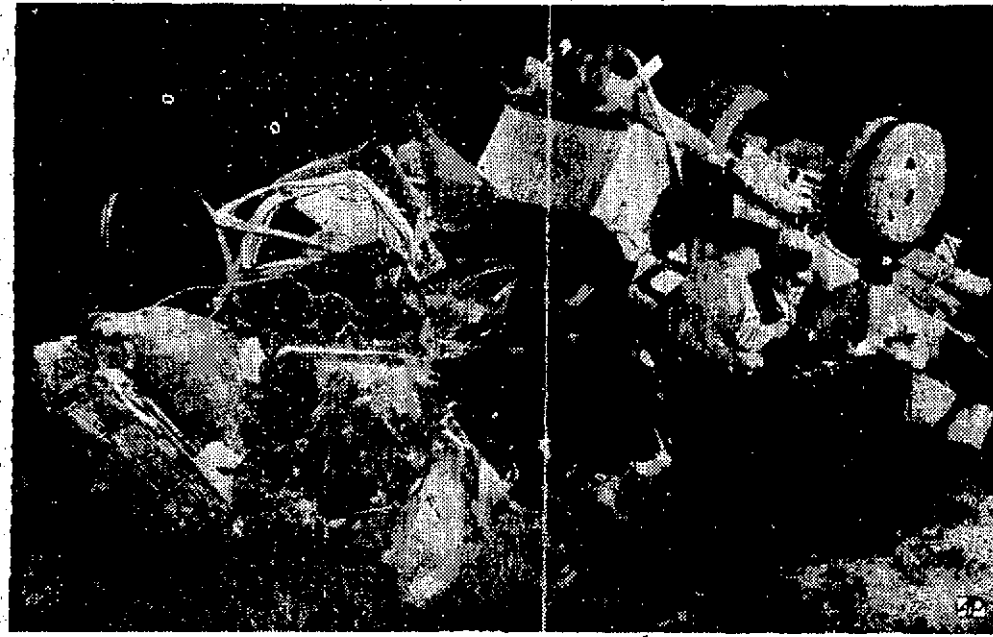

Asked about the proposition of making a smaller loaf of bread to eliminate waste, the baker said that was a matter of being able to procure pans. The pan manufacturers are from three to four months behind on delivery of steel pans now, and if there is a sudden demand for small pans from all over the country this delay in delivery will be greatly increased.

Commenting on the "even parties" where a loaf of bread is divided in two and each half wrapped separately in a container and then the two halves wrapped in a large wrapper, the baker said the machine for that was manufactured by one concern and it would be impossible to equip bakeries with this machine at short notice. Then too, there is the additional cost of wax paper and the increased use which the process entails. Paper is also a scarce article, he commented.

In some states there is a law which makes necessary a uniform loaf of bread. This law eliminates the competition of some bakers.

Ulster Educators Will Meet Monday

Conference Is Slated for Highland Central School at 9 A.M.

Dr. Warren W. Knox, director of the Division of Secondary Education, State Department, will be guest speaker at the annual conference of the Ulster Educators in the Highland Central School on Monday.

Dr. Knox will speak at 11 a. m. on the subject, "Basic Issues—Constants in the Curriculum." Monday's program, which starts at 9 a. m., will continue throughout the day with the final part of the conference scheduled for 2:30 p. m.

After the flag salute at 9 a. m., Shirley Sharrcock will lead in the singing of the National Anthem. The Rev. Herbert Greenland will give the invocation.

Greetings to the conference delegates will be extended by William H. Maynard, president of the Highland Board of Education. He will be introduced by Herbert Campbell, principal of the Highland Central School.

During the business meeting, such reports as the secretary, treasurer's, standing committees, and other reports will be presented.

24th Escape
For Lee it was the 24th escape attempt from army custody and for Walker, the 18th. Both had been sentenced to death in Europe but their sentences later reduced so that Walker had only five more years to serve and Lee, 35.

Lee and Walker, lost in the dark, circled back into Selkirk where they were captured at dawn yesterday one with a handcuff key concealed in his shoe.

In answer to an emergency call from the train commander, 10 additional armed guards from Camp Carson boarded the train at Pueblo, Colo.

Three Others Escape
Despite increased precautions, three more prisoners freed themselves as the train crossed the Continental Divide. One, unidentified, was restrained by guards as he attempted to jump.

Salvador R. Flore, of New York City, leaped through a window. A city guard shot him from the moving train, critically wounding Flore, who was taken first to a civilian hospital, then started for Camp Carson Station hospital.

Thomas J. Mulligan, 24, of Denver had been shackled in a baggage car by guards who suspected him of aiding in the Missouri escape. During the excitement, over Flore's leap, Mulligan broke loose. He hid in nearby woods in freezing weather until an eastbound freight passed which he boarded. Mulligan was plucked by sheriff's officers, "virtually frozen," from a hiding place among machinery on a gondola car near Leadville, Colo.

All are being held at local jails or army camps for transportation later to Camp Cooke.

Public Hearing On City School Budget Tuesday

A public hearing on the local law calling for a hearing on the city school budget before it is submitted each year by the Board of Education to the Common Council, has been called by Mayor William F. Edelman for Tuesday at 10 a. m. in the Common Council chamber, City Hall, City Clerk Raymond McAndrew, announced today.

Second and third readings on the proposal were held at the regular meeting of the Council October 7, and the aldermen adopted a resolution to establish it as a local law. The public hearing slated for Tuesday is required by provisions of the city charter before the measure becomes a law.

Polish Parish Will Hold Anniversary Program Sunday

Bishop Donahue To Be Present; Religious, Social Events Are Scheduled

The Most Rev. Joseph P. Donahue, D.D., vicar general of the Archdiocese of New York, will be the high ranking dignitary of the Roman Catholic Church at the Golden Jubilee ceremonies of Immaculate Conception Church on Sunday.

Bishop Donahue will represent His Eminence Cardinal Francis Spellman at the event marking the 50th anniversary of the founding of the Catholic parish on Delaware avenue.

The Rev. Joseph Siczek, pastor, and committees of parishioners have an elaborate program arranged, which includes religious and social ceremonies.

There will be a solemn Mass at 11 a. m. to which the public is invited, and a banquet is scheduled for 7 p. m., which will be attended by members of the clergy, civic leaders and parishioners who made arrangements in advance with committees in charge of the affair.

Three former pastors of Immaculate Conception will officiate at Sunday's solemn Mass, the Rev. Ignatius Bialdya as celebrant, the Rev. Francis P. Borowski as

Florida Is Warned On Tropical Storm

'Potentially Dangerous' Blow Is Headed for Stricken State

Miami, Fla., Oct. 18 (AP)—Another tropical storm—labeled as "potentially dangerous"—is headed toward Florida.

The blow was expected to reach full hurricane intensity today as it crept west northwestward through the Atlantic across Turks and Caicos islands in the Bahamas.

In a 4:30 a. m. (E.S.T.) advisory, the Weather Bureau said the storm was centered about 70 miles east of Turks with strongest winds estimated at 60 to 70 miles an hour near the center and squalls extending outward 200 miles to the north and east.

The storm itself moved about 13 miles an hour on an easterly straight course toward the mainland.

Hurricane hunter planes were to set out at daybreak to check its progress and intensity.

Born in the South Atlantic, birthplace of another hurricane which lashed south Florida and the Gulf coast a month ago—the storm was the 12th of the 1947 "season" and the fourth within a

Groves Asks for Suggestions in Safety Campaign

Esopus Supervisor Is Promised Survey by the State Traffic Commission

Suggestions from the public on ways to insure a safer traffic conditions on Route 9-W in Port Ewen, were asked today by Supervisor John T. Groves of the Town of Esopus who has obtained a promise of state cooperation in solving a problem which has resulted in several fatalities in the village.

The supervisor, through a special message to The Freeman, asks the cooperation of all interested organizations and individuals in forwarding helpful suggestions or assisting in any way to make the heavily traveled thoroughfare safer for residents of the village.

R. C. Geogor, director of the State Traffic Commission, has promised cooperation in investigating the problem of the village as the following letter explains:

State Traffic Commission
85 Washington Avenue
Albany

October 17, 1947.
Mr. John T. Groves, Supervisor
Town of Esopus
Port Ewen, New York
Dear Mr. Groves:

This will acknowledge receipt of your letter of October 14 in which you call attention to a recent fatal accident in Port Ewen and request that action be taken to reduce the speed of vehicles passing through the Community.

We will conduct an investigation into traffic conditions in this locality and will take such action

Commissioners Favor Extension of Time for Sick Leave at Friday Meeting

List of Jobs

Payment of $6,183.66 on Broadway Sewer Is Authorized

A first step toward competitive examinations for more than 70 city employees who now hold positions on a temporary basis was taken by the Board of Public Works in regular session Friday.

The board also moved to improve sick-leave regulations, fixing the maximum at 90 instead of 30 days for employees of long service.

Under provisions of the new regulation employees of the city will be allowed five days sick leave with pay after six months. The time mounts to ten days after the next 18 months, and 10 additional days are allowed each succeeding year until the maximum of 90 is reached.

The former regulation provided for five days sick leave after the first year and a graduated increase on the same basis until the 30-day limit was reached.

Action on the competitive examination proposal followed a report of a special committee composed of Commissioners Charles O. Davis and Patrick T. Murphy, chairman, and A. Foster Winfield, assistant secretary of the B.P.W., who is also president of the local Civil Service Employees Association.

Jobs on List
It opens the way for later examination at the discretion of the Municipal Civil Service Commission for 50 laborers, 10 motor equipment operators, a labor foreman, grade one, six Park caretakers, two stonecutters, one automotive mechanics' helper, a night janitor, two engineers' aide, grade one, a mason, a painter, two working foremen, one blacksmith, a motorcycle operator and a carpenter.

The move also opened the way for a competitive examination for the position of director of recreation, now filled by Harry Edson, and for a chief sewage plant operator. Qualifications and general requirements have been approved by the state on the latter and examinations are expected to be held soon.

A petition by residents of Dunman avenue for the construction of a sewer there from Lucas avenue to Miller's Lane, was referred to the city engineer for the preparation of plans and specifications.

A resolution adopted on this included the usual stipulation that the property owners agree to pay 75 per cent of the cost and the city the balance. It authorized the corporation counsel to prepare the necessary papers and the city engineer to secure bids.

The measure was also referred to the water department since it is planned to install a water line on the street at the time of the other construction.

The board voted to install a light near the entrance of the A. H. Hicks Engine Company on Foxhall avenue after a letter from Alderman Rosa of the Second Ward called attention to the need for one there.

Authorizes Payment
The board authorized partial payment of $6,183.66 to Contractor Francisco Varco for work completed on the project of widening and draining lower Broadway and a balance of $143.75 to V. J. Constanzi, Inc., of Poughkeepsie for construction work on the Valentine avenue sewer.

City Engineer Arthur J. Hallinan submitted tentative assessment figures for the Valentine avenue sewer which were referred to the board.

To Speak Here

REV. H. D. STODDARD

The Rev. H. D. Stoddard, district superintendent of the northeastern district of the Christian and Missionary Alliance, will be the guest speaker at the opening service of the missionary convention Sunday evening at the Alliance Gospel church, corner of Franklin and Pine streets. The program will start at 7:30 p. m.

The guest speaker, who has served actively in the Alliance for many years, has served in both the foreign and home fields and has been superintendent for 17 years. He will retire from that post at the end of this year. The public is cordially invited to attend the convention.

Critics Harsh

Pittsburgh, Oct. 18 (AP)—Margaret Truman, who wants some day to sing in grand opera, received a warm reception from the audience, but a chill one from the critics in her first full-length concert last night. Criticism of the 23-year-old soprano's voice ranged from a succinct "childish" by Fred Lisfelt of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph to the "likeable voice" but its training is very faulty." The public is cordially invited to attend the convention.

Only One Resignation

Only once in Pennsylvania's history has one of her governors resigned. Near death, Francis B. Schnitzler resigned July 9, 1848, and died three weeks later.

Program Is Given For Jubilee Dinner Of Local Knights

Past Grand Knight Bernard A. Feeney, president of the Board of Education, will act as toastmaster at the Knights of Columbus jubilee banquet Tuesday evening, October 21. The invocation will be by the chaplain, the Rev. John M. Brown. Grand Knight Joseph F. Saccamano will welcome the guests. He will be followed by an address of congratulation from Mayor William F. Edelmuth. P.G.K. Joseph F. Sullivan will give a short historical sketch and District Deputy Frank A. Reis will offer the congratulations of the 34th New York K. of C. district.

The main addresses will be by the Very Rev. Msgr. Martin J. Drury, P.E.V.E., dean of Ulster and Sullivan counties, and Chief Judge of the Court of Appeals John T. Loughran, The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Stephen E. Connelly will say the closing prayer, to be followed by the National Anthem.

Three Will Share Part in Authorship

Three Kingston persons will share the responsibility of writing the history of the New York City celebration of Methodist Churches in celebration of the 150th anniversary which will be held in 1949, it was announced today.

Formal appointments of the local Methodists and others were announced during the 148th session of the conference recently held in Poughkeepsie.

The Rev. Fred H. Denning, retired Methodist minister, was named as editor-in-chief while two Kingston women were appointed to write the history of organizations of the church.

Mrs. L. G. King, president of the Women's Society of Christian Service, was selected to write the history of women's organizations. The other appointees were Mrs. Daniel N. Secore, a former superintendent of the Junior League, who will write the history of the youth activities of the conference including the Junior League, Epworth League, church schools and similar youth organizations.

MRS. JAMES J. MILANO

Bach Is Topic of Music

Appreciation Group's Meeting

The members of the Music Appreciation Group of Women's Club of the Y.W.C.A. studied Johann Sebastian Bach at their meeting Thursday afternoon held at the home of Mrs. James Mathers, 174 Main street.

Mrs. Henry Millonig, Jr., reviewed details of the composer's life revealing that he came of a family which had furnished seven generations of noted musicians. He was the greatest and also one of the finest organists and clavier players of the day. Starting as choir boy, his ambition carried him to the post of choir master and organist in Leipzig and yet he found time to write. His music reflects religious devotion, she said, and it is a product of the Reformation.

Mrs. Millonig pointed out that it was 100 years after his death before his followers appreciated his compositions due to the rivalry of the Italian style.

Mrs. John Herlihy played recordings from his Well Tempered Clavier which has been applied called "The Old Testament of the Music Student." It is a set of prelude and fugues in every key, she explained. Well tempered means the system of tuning the clavier perfected by Bach which allows free modulation from one key to another.

Bach perfected the fugue, a highly developed canon or round. In this form a short compact melody is announced at the beginning, then the voices enter in succession, each higher or lower than the first with the end a perfect blend of all. The fugues in F Major, F Minor, G Major, G Minor and E Major were played.

Mrs. Samuel McKinney and Mrs. Clarence Dunn had charge of the tea which followed the meeting. Mrs. Harry Smith, group chairman and Mrs. Raymond E. Craft, poured.

The next meeting will be held November 6 with Mrs. Conrad J. Heiselman.

Good Taste Today

NOT JUST BROUGHT ALONG

A young girl writes: "I am not engaged, but I do have a special boy friend who goes almost everywhere with me. Several times he has wanted to take me to the houses of his friends, but my mother will not let me go. Is she right?"

Always has been considered proper that a man go with a girl to the house of any friend of hers. But according to the proprieties, a young girl who goes running around to the houses of strangers on the invitation of any man—in short, to be just "brought along"—is not proper.

Dear Mrs. Post: Would it be proper for me to give my boy friend a pair of socks, which I intend to knit for a Christmas present. My sister says it is not proper for a girl to give a man any article of wearing apparel. I see nothing wrong in it, especially since he has stated his preference for hand-knit wool socks. However, I certainly do not wish to be "misunderstood." Will you please tell me if there is any bad taste in this?

Answer: As an aftermath of the war, it seems to me there is nothing very personal nor open to criticism in knitting a pair of socks and giving them to whom-ever you please.

Dear Mrs. Post: I've noticed that the makers of Wedgewood and Spode china are making a small soup plate with a rim. This plate is exactly like the soup plates we had at home but smaller. Would you buy them instead of cream soup and saucers?

Answer: If you like to set your table with damask cloth—making it a distinctly dinner table setting and not a supper table setting—then the soup plates would be suitable. If you set your table with napkins and saucers would be more suitable.

Dear Mrs. Post: My son, aged 15, and I are soon to take a cruise to Bermuda. I would like to know the correct dress for him for dinner wear aboard ship. I would like to wear a dinner dress. Answer: He could wear a tuxedo but, also, at his age, he could choose a blue suit.

Mrs. Post's leaflet, "The Well-Dressed Woman," gives general advice for wearing hats, gloves, shoes, slacks and shorts. To obtain a copy, send 5 cents in coin and a stamped self-addressed envelope to her, care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y. Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. (Released by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

WINTER INCREASES FIRE HAZARDS

The approach of winter brings an increase in many fire hazards, particularly in homes where heating and electrical equipment will soon be working at capacity. And this winter we will learn whether the American people are capable of meeting the challenge of a destroyer that has been setting ruinous record after ruinous record.

That challenge has been clearly presented to every individual—and to every community, no matter how small. The President's conference on fire safety, which was held last May, developed a splendid, all-inclusive program for combating fire. But that program will be worthless without aggressive public support.

One of the principal community duties is to enact fire prevention ordinances that are up to date—and then to enforce them.

An efficient fire department is equally important. Firemen must be trained, and equipment must be kept in proper repair. Adequate water facilities must be provided. A small town cannot have the kind of fire department that protects a metropolis—but it can have one adequate to meet its needs at moderate cost.

Every expert knows that fire can be controlled—and that losses can be reduced to a fraction of their present volume. Positive action will accomplish that.

GOLDEN GATE BRIDGE

One of America's famous national structures is the Golden Gate Bridge at San Francisco. As a landmark it is to the West coast what the Statue of Liberty is to the Atlantic ports. Its overall length of almost 9,000 feet makes it the longest span in the world, and it towers almost 750 feet high. Perhaps the most amazing thing about it is that it is built to stand a sway of 10 feet to each side. The swaying motion is recorded in eight machines situated at intervals across the main span.

Since mankind first hit upon the arch and learned the basic principles of stress and strain, bridge-building has captivated his imagination. Bridges represent mankind's first conquests of nature. Transportation always has been man's great problem—how to get from where he was to where he wanted to be. Eternally he has wanted to be somewhere else.

Bridge-building is a witness of man's power to transport himself. It is, also, a symbol of unity. The structure that connects two shores of a stream, making it easy for peoples living on each side to mingle freely with each other, develops mutual acquaintanceship and understanding.

For a very important element of the population the great event of the last year was not the development of friction with Russia or the passage of the Taft-Hartley law, but the return of bubble gum.

Ex-President Hoover did well to deny his reported statement that Japan would not have attacked the United States without provocation. Had that utterance remained undisclaimed, Hoover's future opinions would probably not have been accorded the respect given many of those in the past.

These are the days when people vow to profit by this year's mistakes in gardening.

KICKERS WANTED

A Portland, Ore., motorist got a paint job on his car that he thought was rotten. Getting a placard that said so, he parked across the street from the shop. The painter threatened violence, the motorist called police, and the city attorney ruled that the aggrieved customer was within his rights. If he did not like the job, he had a perfect right to say so.

The motorist should be applauded. Too many of us have inferior work done, and grumble to our friends, but carry it no further. The contractor or workman will probably go serenely on, doing bad work or otherwise gyping his customers. It is not necessary to sue him to get back at him effectively.

THE FALL GUY

When Charles Luckman met with eight members of the United States Senate to discuss his program, he told them that he was handed this program, that it was discussed with him in Boston before he came to Washington.

For reasons, not understandable to me, not one of these polite Senators asked him who handed him the program, who discussed it with him in Boston. Are we back to the days when an anonymous group of serious thinkers sit about cocktails in Alexandria and scheme great designs which they hand to somebody? Certainly, the American people have assumed that the food program was worked out by the Citizens Committee, that it is a voluntary program of the American people, and that the manager of Great Britain's greatest enterprise in the United States was selected for this job because he could prepare a program and carry it through.

It would be interesting to require Mr. Luckman to explain why the Department of Agriculture, which has an appropriation of more than a billion a year to advise the American people and the government on food, has not been consulted. Secretary of Agriculture Clinton P. Anderson is one of the most competent men in the government. He certainly knows more about chickens, and eggs than Luckman, whose specialty is in charge of this program as he was in 1946 when he successfully carried through a major world operation with the assistance of Herbert Hoover? Since when has Abe Fortas, for instance, become a food authority superior to Secretary of Agriculture Anderson? The story goes that Anderson was bypassed because he would not agree to the food first in mind.

You will recall how all through the war every citizen was requested to save fats and how the butchers cooperated in this campaign. Fats were as important then as guns, if you recall the belly-hoo.

Well, here is Mr. Luckman, soap manufacturer, who ought to know something about fats, saying nothing about saving fats. He wants to reduce the consumption of poultry and eggs—why, the Lord only knows—but not a word is said about reducing the consumption of fats. In fact, he would feed our cattle less grain so that they would have less fat. If this is a genuine feeding program, fats must come first. If nothing is said or done about fats, except to reduce them, there is something very phony about the program. Why cut the distillers and the brewers and not the soap companies? Will someone explain that? Maybe a Congressional Committee might look into that, but not a committee, whether Republican or Democratic, which is committed to the New Deal concept of controls.

The more I ponder Mr. Luckman's setup, the more it looks as though that brilliant young man is being taken for a ride by some extremely clever New Dealers. It looks as though his Citizens Committee has been set up in such a manner as to provide that voluntary action must fail. In fact, the negotiations with the distillers and brewers, now little evidence of anything voluntary. After Luckman has failed to produce the stage for the "emergency" control combination that operated so incompetently and with so much trouble during the war and immediately after it. The preparations seem to be a little too obvious—with Charles Luckman as the fall guy.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M. D.

FAMILY PHYSICIAN

A few years ago it was predicted that within 50 years one-half of the earth's inhabitants would be mental patients and require the other half to look after them.

With the discovery of the shock treatment—inulin, metrazol and electric—thousands of cases were cured, and it was felt that there would not be the need for the building of more hospitals for mental patients. Then along came World War II with its ill effects upon the mental and emotional balance of all the people in the civilized world.

There is at present so much mental and emotional unrest that mental specialists cannot begin to cope with it, as only 1 in 50 physicians is a psychiatrist. Fortunately, the family physician can take the place of the psychiatrist in a great many cases. The physician in general practice meets and treats all kinds of patient problems and this is, or should be, just as true of emotional illnesses as it is of any other type of illness.

In every illness, mild or severe, there are not only the symptoms caused by the illness or disease, but also the symptoms caused by the patient's reaction to the illness. To some patients more or less used to illness another illness is not uncommon, and they do not get as emotionally upset as one not used to illness or one who is nervous and high-strung. Then there are those who welcome an illness or, at least, symptoms as a means of escape from responsibilities.

Some valuable suggestions to the general or family physician in meeting patients whose illness is complicated by mental and emotional disturbances are given by Dr. Raymond W. Waggoner, Ann Arbor, Mich., in the "Journal of the American Medical Association."

The physician should show an interest in the patient's home and occupational life aside from his illness. A thorough history and examination into the case of his physical illness should be made so that the patient will not get the idea that his symptoms are "due to his nerves." The thoroughness of the physical examination gives weight to the physician's reassurances as to the outcome of the illness. "Under no circumstances should the physician assume the attitude of superiority or the patient get the idea that the physician does not have time to listen to the patient's story."

While some of these patients—most of them, in fact—need some rest, too much rest is a mistake as it gives them too much time to think about themselves and their ailments. Light, useful employment raises their morale as much as it does less time to worry about themselves.

Miss Florence Green spent the week-end at Lake Minnewaska.

Health for All

CONTROLLING ASTHMA

Asthma is a disease of the bronchial tubes, marked by difficult breathing or shortness of breath. The average case is mild, but repeated attacks may damage lung tissue permanently and place great strain on the heart.

Everyone with this illness should get medical advice early and follow it faithfully.

There are several illnesses which cause wheezing, difficult breathing, so it is important, first, to have an accurate diagnosis by a doctor. Second, the patient must give the doctor every chance to find out the true cause of the asthma. There are many possibilities. About 75 per cent of cases are due to some form of allergy. This is a special sensitivity to one or more substances that enter the body from the outside, or to conditions and substances inside the body. A doctor may have to make dozens of tests before he finds out what is causing the illness. He may need the help and cooperation of the patient as a "medical detective."

Most cases of asthma can be treated successfully once the cause has been determined. Avoiding the allergy-producing substance is the first and most effective treatment. Sometimes this may be fairly simple, as in the case of hypersensitivity to certain foods, feathers, fur, animal danders, face powder, etc.

Allergies related to bacterial infections, such as colds or sinusitis, may cause asthma. In such instances, the asthma is usually cured after removal or improvement of the infection. Occasionally asthma may be improved by a change of climate. However, it is by no means necessary and it may be foolish—for all asthma patients to have a change of climate. Some allergies may necessitate a change of job.

Many allergies which cause asthma are due to things which cannot be avoided, such as dust and pollen in the air. In such cases, the doctor tries to hypo-sensitize the patient. Beginning with injection of a weak dilution of an extract of the substance to which the patient is allergic, the doctor gradually increases the strength of the dose until the patient is less sensitive when exposed to the substance and no longer reacts in an allergic manner. Doctors are still doing research with these so-called allergens and are learning more every day about them.

People who diagnose and treat themselves run great risks of unnecessary illness and possible permanent harm. Most people with asthma can lead comfortable, useful lives if they will rely upon the doctor. He can show the patient how to avoid most attacks and how to relieve the occasional one that might come on. Asthma is too serious to leave to the advice of friends and relatives or to home remedies or any medicine not prescribed by the doctor who knows the case.

In the next article, the early case of tuberculosis will be discussed.

The Big Poker Game

By FRANK TRIPP

I've been in on plenty of discussions about our feeding Europe and financing the world. Our humane responsibility dominated them all but they never ended in decision that we should wreck America to save those who hate us.

The American people are getting pretty fed up on the insolence and ingratitude of the recipients of our billions; pretty tired of sustaining foreign idleness and ideologies which seek to ruin us.

They are thinking how silly and futile it seems to periodically destroy our treasure and give the lives of our youth to conquer nations we have nurtured back to fighting strength so they could war against us—when they should be feeding and supporting themselves.

We cannot and should not withhold aid to any starving people. It is not an American trait to do so, but we have been disillusioned and cannot be kidded that it means anything more than to buy our conscience; knowledge that we have done our duty. The antics of those we befriend have erased the joy from our giving.

The net of it is that there's more economic and political significance than those who feed her; so Russia will take over if we don't. The low-down, cold-blooded guts of it is that our customers are broke and hungry and we've got to put 'em on their feet or we won't have anybody but ourselves to sell to. That's a mean and miserable reason for doing good.

Right now, we'd like to be able to sell to ourselves—like to have something to sell to each other. One reason we can't is because we are giving so much away. Giving it to people who openly proclaim they detest us and won't buy anything from us any time they can get it cheaper or easier from anybody else.

The whole thing makes me think of a screwball poker game at 3 o'clock in the morning. A couple of guys have won all the money from four other players. The four are sleepy and broke. They want to fold up and go home.

Just to keep the game going, the winners, who have accomplished their original object and won all the dough, stake the losers so the game won't bust up. They've just got to play poker.

They never expect to get paid back—and they tell the losers so. On that condition the losers aren't near so sleepy, accept the lend-lease, "borrow" another stack of blues, and the game goes on.

The winners are playing against their own money. Every time a loser's stack gets low he "borrows" some more and gets bolder "cause it ain't costing him anything to play. He plays board straight and makes four card draws.

Pretty soon he hits a streak of luck. He fills a royal on a three card draw and shoves in his whole stack.

The sucker who by that time should have all the money in his pocket, raises on an ace full and loans the loser some more money so he can raise back.

The winner won't be pushed off his back porch. Before the cards are laid down he has "loaned" all his money to the loser and he has to borrow from the other winner who has been egging him on. By then he owes plenty, which he's got to pay back.

You can't see the table for the stack of cards that's piled on it. But every last dollar of it came out of the winner's pocket—his own money, now hanging on the result of the showdown.

After all the money is in the game, that was there, and all that could be borrowed, somebody calls.

The loser, who didn't have a cent of his own in the game, lays down the royal, rakes in the pot, grins, yawns—and goes home.

Instead of paying, what he owes he organizes a new game and declares his creditor out.

The sap who had it all once, and was sitting pretty, has to hook the family pewter, mortgage his house and his children's education to go to work to pay off his debts.

The short skate he staked says "go jump in the lake," repays nobody—

And starts another war! Seeing this is what they do, there's just one way to lick it. Fight it. We have to get things, pull in our belts and feed the things, but starve the militarists. No more dough to rebuild foreign war machines.

Big Fire in Japan
Tokyo, Oct. 18 (AP)—Kyodo News Agency said today 12 Japanese were killed or injured Friday in a $4,000,000 fire that destroyed nearly 100 shops of Shinjoh, on the extreme southwestern tip of Honshu Island. The agency said 4,000 were made homeless as flames destroyed some 700 homes and an occupation force barracks. Occupation personnel, hampered by a shortage of water, smothered the flames with bulldozers and dynamited buildings to localize the fire.

Urges Merchant Marine
New York, Oct. 18 (AP)—The United States must maintain its military strength and a major factor in its overall preparedness is a strong Merchant Marine. W. Averill Harriman, secretary of commerce, says. Urging a steady replenishment of the Merchant Marine to prevent it from becoming obsolete, Harriman recommended also that the U. S. send more of its surplus vessels to foreign nations to lessen their need for other types of aid.

Annual Donation Day Held at Home for Aged With Program of Music Given by Ensemble

Donations of canned foods, and other foods harvested from gardens as well as sums of money were received Donation Day, Friday, at the Home for the Aged. A special plan had been made this year for contributions since the costs of living have risen so sharply that funds and supplies are needed to maintain the standard of the Home.

During the afternoon those attending the annual tea given by the board of directors, were entertained by an ensemble of Musicians Local 215, American Federation of Musicians under the direction of Clementine Nessel.

A feature of the program were two original compositions, Nocturne and Etude, played by the composer, Forrest Goodenough. Mr. Goodenough, who has been blind since a young child, played the piano accompaniment in the ensemble and did several of the melodies on the flute. His home is in Lake Hill and he has recently returned from Indianapolis where he took part in the Indiana State School for the Blind's Centennial anniversary. He also played Debussy's "Clair de Lune."

Mrs. Nessel played the piano accordion and for her solos did the Gypsy music from Countess Maritza and the popular air, "Danny Boy."

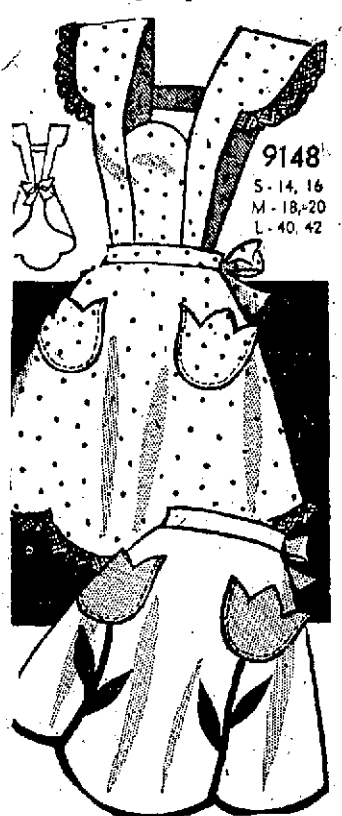

John Knapp completed the trio with the string bass. The group played many favorites among which were Blue Danube, Two Hearts in Three Quarters, Time, music from "Robert" and "Song of Norway," a medley of Victor Herbert melodies, "Begin the Beguine," and several requests.

Mrs. Harry H. Flemming introduced the musicians and also welcomed those attending Donation Day.

The tea table was arranged by Miss Katherine Hasbrouck with a centerpiece of red berries and greens with candles and silver tea service. Mrs. Harry Harrison and Mrs. C. C. Hardenberg assisted by pouring.

Mrs. Conrad J. Heiselman was chairman of the entertainment committee. Mrs. Henry Sniffen was chairman of the tea and members of the board assisted in receiving the guests and serving refreshments.

Good Eating in Low-Priced Meat

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Staff Writer

These two loss-costly meats, tongue and chuck beef, can produce good eating. Slow cooking and plenty of it is part of the answer. Seasoning is another.

Brisket Beef Tongue
(Serves 6)

One beef tongue, 2 tablespoons fat, ¼ cup chopped onion, ½ cup chopped celery, 1 can condensed tomato soup, 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon paprika.

Cook tongue until tender, skin, trim and place in a baking dish. Melt fat in frying pan; add onion and celery; simmer for 5 minutes. Add tomato soup, salt and paprika. Pour mixture over tongue. Cover and bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for ½ hour, basting occasionally.

Beef Stew with Dumplings
(Serves 6)

Two pounds chuck beef cut in small pieces, 4 sliced carrots, 4 sliced onions, 2 teaspoons salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, 3 tablespoons minced parsley, 1 recipe dumplings.

Broil meat in fat and cover with cold water; add carrots and onions. Season with salt, pepper and minced parsley. Cover and cook slowly 2 to 3 hours or until meat is done.

Drop dumpling mixture from tip of spoon into the stew while it is boiling rapidly and cook, tightly covered, 15 minutes. Do not remove lid. Serve meat and dumplings on hot platters.

MONDAY'S MENU
BREAKFAST: Sliced bananas, ready-to-eat cereal, corn bread, butter, whip, syrup, coffee, milk.

LUNCHEON: Dried lima bean soup with croustons, sliced raw carrots and green pepper with cottage cheese balls, date-molasses bread, tea, milk.

DINNER: Leftover chicken fricassee with chopped hard-cooked eggs on toast, canned peas, baked potatoes, sliced tomatoes, enriched bread, fortified margarine, baked cinnamon apples, top milk, coffee, milk.

Union Hopes High For Newt Culver

Schenectady, N. Y.—Newt Culver, of Kingston, captain of Union's cross country team, will be out for new glory this Saturday, October 18, when he leads the Garret harriers against Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute at Troy.

Culver, who was undefeated in mile and half mile competition in track last year, and was also captain of the team, has made the startling record of hitting within 45 seconds of Union's course record in an unofficial run. His 26:58 time looks good enough to raise Coach Bill Ketz's hopes that the course record of 26:15, made by Bill Hawkes, '38, may topple this year.

In the series between Union and R.P.I., Union has won 13 and R.P.I. 10. The Engineers beat Union 33 to 22.

Culver, son of Mr. and Mrs. Theron L. Culver of 83 Washington avenue, is a third term student at Union and was on the Dean's list last year. He is a graduate of Kingston High School where he was a member of the honorary scholastic society, the track team, and was president of the senior class. He served 15 months in the Navy.

deacon and the Rev. Stanislaus Malinowski as sub-deacon.

The sermon will be preached by the Rev. John Daszkiewicz, Redemptorist missionary, who is regarded as one of the most prominent Polish orators belonging to the religious order.

Many priests, who have appeared at religious services in the church over a period of years will attend the Mass, and many dignitaries of the Catholic Church are expected to accept invitations to be present.

A number of young ladies from the parish who joined the Felician Sisters will return to Kingston for the celebration, and also present at the Mass will be members of the various church societies and children from Immaculate Conception Parochial School.

Lyons Awarded

The statute had been waived to the jury as a question of fact. The jury returned a verdict of $4,300 for that period of employment. The second proposition was for wages from 1940 to 1946 and the jury found $700 for plaintiff. The third item was for care of Miss Roberts at the Lyons home during her illness and the jury awarded Mr. Lyons $500 for that service. A motion was made to set aside the verdict, particularly that bearing on the period from 1919 to 1940 on the grounds that the statute of limitations prevailed. Justice Bergan reserved decision. Michael Nardone appeared for plaintiff and Floyd W. Powell for defendant.

A jury was selected in No. 92, John Clearwater against John L. Sharot, a negligence action, and trial was commenced.

Model Railroad Show Opens Sunday at 2:30

The fifth annual exhibition of the Kingston Model Railroad Club's quarter-inch scale model railroad system will open Sunday, October 19, at 2:30 p. m., at 541 Broadway, next to the West Shore freight station.

The show will be open for eight days, Sundays from 2:30 until 10 p. m. and evenings from 7:30 until 10 p. m.

Models of the New York Central's famous "Empire State Express" and "Pacemaker Fast Freight" will be seen in action on the club's "Hudson Valley Lines."

Polish Pay Tribute To American Dead

Warsaw, Oct. 18 (AP)—High Polish army officers and government officials paid tribute to American war dead today at a special Mass preceding the first shipment of bodies from Poland to the United States, by way of Antwerp.

Gen. Gustav Paszkiewicz, commander of the Warsaw military district, and a company of Polish soldiers joined Americans at services before flag-draped coffins in one of Warsaw's leading churches.

A motor convoy will transport 108 coffins to Berlin tomorrow. Final identifications are expected to be made at Antwerp.

The bodies, recovered by the Graves Registration Mission, all are of American airmen shot down over Poland during the war.

Another 300 burial places remain to be checked.

Fog Prevents Sailing Of Queen Elizabeth

New York, Oct. 18 (AP)—Fog over New York harbor again kept the British liner Queen Elizabeth in her pier today, delaying her departure for Southampton at least until afternoon. The giant passenger ship originally had been scheduled to sail at 7:30 p. m. (E.S.T.) yesterday, only 24½ hours after her arrival.

Alaska Celebrates

Anchorage, Alaska, Oct. 18 (AP)—Alaska celebrated the 80th anniversary of the territory's purchase from Russia today. Numerous guests from the United States and from all over Alaska assembled here for the territory's biggest celebration. It was on Friday, October 18, 1867, when the actual transfer of the territory was made from Russia to the United States at Novo Arkhangelsk, now Sitka, histories show.

Railroad Tieup

Elm Plague Discussed

Max Oppenheimer, assistant public works superintendent, who attended the meeting in the absence of Superintendent Ernest A. Steuding, was authorized to cooperate with the New York State Department of Agriculture and Markets in the control of a disease which is destroying the Dutch elm trees in the city.

Mayor Edelmutt said that he had been notified by a representative of the department that the disease is destroying many of the trees and that several should be removed. He was informed that if the disease is not controlled, the tree would soon become extinct, he said.

The tree is one of American origin and may have been in the city for generations. The assistant superintendent was authorized to notify the state representative of such trees as were on city property, and to cooperate in notifying property owners in instances where the trees are privately owned.

A new flusher ordered by the city will arrive soon, the assistant superintendent reported.

Fashion as the Critics See It

NEW YORK (NEA)—Designers of low-priced, ready-to-wear clothes won equal recognition this year with the creators of America's top-bracket custom-made finery when the Fashion Critics' Awards were handed out.

For outstanding contribution in the price field in which the style-creator works, four designers were each awarded a $1,000 U.S. bond and a coveted bronze statuette, called "Winnie," at a gala City Hall gathering where winners' fashions—examples of which are pictured—were exhibited.

Award winners were Mark Mooring, custom dress designer; Nettie Rosenstien, designer of upper-bracket ready-to-wear; Adele Simpson, designer of moderate-priced ready-to-wear; Jack Horwitz, designer of low-priced junior fashions.

These winners were chosen by a jury of 45 fashion editors of magazines, syndicates and newspapers.

Our neighbor up the street has been talking first aid training and after her lesson on resuscitation the other evening, as she was returning home she noticed a man, on a darkened street, sprawled downward.

Immediately she thought, "Providence has sent me hither to minister to this poor unfortunate."

Parking her car nearby, she rushed over and began giving the treatment for resuscitation.

Presently the man stirred, looked up and spoke with great difficulty:

Kingston High and Port Jervis Battle to Scoreless Deadlock

Frank Shea, Carl Furillo at Stadium Sunday

Yankee Pitching Star Faces All-Star Hudson Valley Nine

A post-season baseball classic featuring three World Series heroes—Frank "Spec" Shea and Phil Rizzuto of the New York Yankees and steel-armed Carl Furillo of the Brooklyn Dodgers—against a picked Kingston City League and Hudson Valley combine is on tap for municipal stadium Sunday at 2 o'clock.

Fred Davi, promoter of the contest, said today that Shea, Yankee pitching sensation who won two World Series games, will pitch the entire game for his all-star squads. Furillo and Rizzuto also will go the distance.

Westrum to Catch

Wes Westrum, of the New York Giants, will be behind the plate for the local squads, holding up the slants of Jackie Watzka, Bill Windburn and Bud Swarthout.

Billy "The Kid" Ostrom, of Poughkeepsie, will be in the Kingston outfield but will be used in the pitching box, if the City League trio is unable to stem the Shea power, Davi said.

Shea, the pudgy right hander who put Naugatuck, Conn., on the U. S. baseball map, will have a host of minor league stars in his lineup in addition to Rizzuto and Furillo.

Shea's roster also includes: Johnny White, former N.Y.U. star.

Jackie Tyler, West Haven, Conn. (a great war time outfielder).

Whitey Furillo, West Haven, Conn. (a great war time outfielder).

Henry Myerlanek, property of Detroit Tigers.

Tom Sheehan, ex-Notre Dame and New York Giants.

Bill Sheehan, Notre Dame.

Billy Moore, Los Angeles of Pacific Coast League.

Al Jarrett, former Baltimore International League.

Davi's roster includes four outfielders: Charlie Neff, Billy Ostrom, Big Ralph Tiano and Etta Gimmarrco, of Newburgh, who played with Utica in the Eastern League this season.

Westrum, Bill Olen and George Zadany will catch for the locals. Among the infielders are Alan Vogt, Johnny Schatzel, Tom Carlinio, Chapple Van Derzee, Bill Tierney, Charlie Francello, Schaffer and Brice, of Saugerties.

MacPhail Says He Quit Because Of Heavy Taxes

New York, Oct. 18 (AP)—Larry MacPhail wants to set the record straight.

He says his resignation as president and general manager of the New York Yankees—his resignation from baseball for good—was not influenced in the slightest degree by Commissioner A. B. Chandler, "nor any other individual."

Returning to the Yankees' plush Fifth Avenue offices to read his valedictory to a group of baseball writers, MacPhail declared in a two-page statement yesterday that the deal whereby he sold his one-third interest in the Yankees to partners Dan Topping and Del Webb had been agreed upon September 18.

His retirement, he said, was promoted because of the heavy tax on the profits of his sale of stock that would leave him little of his salary were he to continue as general manager through the three years of his contract.

To substantiate his previous announcement that he had sold for $2,000,000 his share in the club, he exhibited a stamped duplicate deposit slip to show that that amount had been banked in his account. His compensation for the past year, he said, approximated $250,000.

In a gay mood, MacPhail declared that he had no plans to return to baseball and, in fact, contemplated undertaking no work "at least through 1948" apart from conducting his Belair, Md., farm.

Zaharias Wins

Hardscrabble Meet

Fort Smith, Ark., Oct. 18 (AP)—A final round of 75 enabled Mildred (Babe) Zaharias of Denver to finish five strokes ahead of her nearest competitor and win first prize of $1,250 in the $2,500-Hardscrabble Country Club's Women's Open Golf Tournament here yesterday.

293 total for the 72 rounds is a new women's record. The former record was 295.

Second-place Patty Berg of Minneapolis, who received $750 for her total of 298, undershot the Babe by two strokes yesterday, thus reducing the seven-stroke advantage enjoyed by the Denver entrant after she scored an 11-under-par 68 Thursday.

Winner of the $500 third prize was Betty Jameson of San Antonio, whose final round of 78 gave her a 305 total.

Canadian Champs Coming

JOEY SANDULO

LLOYD KENNY

Here are two of the Canadian champions expected to make a hit with local boxing fans on B'nai B'rith card at the Kingston Municipal Auditorium on Thursday night, October 23. Joey Sandulo, Quebec Golden Gloves champion is matched with George Jackson of Schenectady, who has two knockouts to his credit in Kingston. Lloyd Kenny, 130 pound titlist from Ottawa, winner of 14 bouts in 19 starts, is paired with Harold Morton, Albany power puncher, who won his scrap on the last card. Six Canadians will box next Thursday, special arrangements having been made by B. N. Becker, director of bouts for B'nai B'rith, with the A. A. U. for their appearance. Becker said he was bringing in the team to perk up the ring sport which hit a lull after a couple uninteresting shows.

Texas No. 1 Grid Squad In Williamson Ratings

Texas continued to hold the No. 1 spot in the nation's intercollegiate football circles last week with its decisive defeat of Oklahoma in the opinion of the Williamson Football Ratings.

Michigan, 69-0 conqueror of Pittsburgh, moved into second place. The System continued to rate teams nationally on the strength of current opposition, which explained Notre Dame's drop to eighth place.

Army, North Carolina, Southern Methodist fell out of the top ten though only the Tar Heels were whipped last Saturday.

A football schedule that last week promised to be moderately uneventful came up with a knockout punch in the form of top-heavy scoring and a general revolt among underdog elevens against highly-favored opponents.

There were more than 30 crazy results topped by Kentucky's 26-0 win over Georgia. Others were: St. Louis 16, Georgetown 0; Bowdoin 8, Amherst 6; DePaul 13, Rochester 12; Iowa 27, Indiana 14; Syracuse 28, Temple 12; and one of the biggest upsets in years in minor circles, Knox 19, Lawrence 13.

But despite the fallen favorites, the System tagged 228 of 289 games reported correctly or an average of 80.4 per cent for the week. It was also correct over general opinion on at least a dozen important games.

Katrine Gun Club Closes Pheasant Reserve

The Lake Katrine Rod and Gun Club game preserve will be closed during the regular 5½ day pheasant season, it was decided by club members this week.

It was decided that the club members would hunt on the following special dates:

Sunday, October 26

Sunday, November 2

Sunday, November 9

Saturday, November 15

Rules laid down for the special hunting dates are:

Club members will be entitled to shoot two male pheasants per day.

Seventy-five birds will be released for each of the first three days and seven hens on the last day.

After inventory is taken, the club can decide if there will be any additional hunting days in December. It is urged that members shoot cock pheasant only.

Every member must register in and out of the preserve and all birds leaving the preserve must be tagged. The registration headquarters will be the Gun Club trap and

The Notre Dame Quandary . . .

The Notre Dame crepe hangers are having a field day, since the Fighting Irish failed to murder Purdue and Pitt, a couple of so-so gridiron machines of 1947. Everybody expects Notre Dame to tear everybody else apart, except Frank Leahy, the dour Dane, who thinks the press, radio and experts went overboard on his squad.

But Mr. Leahy let it be known a few nights ago that the Irish will win their share of games. The normally reserved pessimistic Nomad mentor even went so far as to throw the gauntlet at mighty Michigan which is making a shambles of the Big Nine.

Mr. Leahy said in effect that Notre Dame would be glad to meet Michigan on any Saturday in any year on any field. The challenge will not be accepted.

Williamson Rates Irish Sixth . . .

Which brings us to Paul B. Williamson, author of the Williamson Ratings and Predictions that appear weekly in The Freeman. Mr. Williamson is convinced Notre Dame is highly overrated and rates them no better than sixth nationally. He ranks Michigan first, L.S.U. second and Army third. Rice and North Carolina also rate ahead of the Irish in Williamson's book.

Just for the sake of the records here are the Williamson's predictions for the Big 10 of 1947 compared to a consensus of all known and recognized ratings:

Williamson Ratings	National Consensus
1. Michigan	1. Notre Dame
2. Louisiana State	2. Michigan
3. Army	3. Louisiana State
4. North Carolina	4. Michigan
5. Rice Institute	5. Alabama
6. Notre Dame	6. North Carolina
7. Alabama	7. Army
8. Holy Cross	8. Pennsylvania
9. Oregon State	9. U.C.L.A.
10. Southern Methodist	10. Tennessee

The silliness of the pre-season ratings and predictions is emphasized when you consider that neither rating listed either Georgia Tech or Texas, two of the best in the nation on the basis of current performance. Williamson's haughty rating of North Carolina for the 4th spot already has been made a shambles. And what about California? Oh, well it makes interesting reading.

The Baby Sitter Angle . . .

The distinguished gentlemen who conducted a post-mortem on the ailments plaguing the 1947 Kingston Dodgers will be thoroughly embarrassed to learn that in their prolonged discussion they overlooked the very important "baby sitter" angle. It is forwarded to us by Mrs. Tillie Bunn, a City League member. Mrs. Bunn regards her communication as an "amazing revelation." And we are not going to tamper with revelations with redundant comment. So here goes:

"Dear Charlie: I believe I am about to unfurl an amazing revelation to you . . . the reason why the Kingston Dodgers flunked financially in our town. All the big-wigs who gathered in the Hotel Stuyvesant to sound out the reason for this 'flunk' failed to come up with the real reason."

So, as the wife of a $40-a-week clerk, I shall proceed to tell you and the other Dodger rooters that you are kidding yourself if you think Kingston can support such a team. It's a known and proven fact that this is a low-salaried town and our people live accordingly. We are not a thriving city of industry. Unfortunately, we seem to be just blundering along.

Just to state the facts, as I see them . . . we and many of our people are in this $40-a-week income bracket. We have one or two children, and a home to pay for. There just doesn't seem to be any money left over for night ball games which call for the additional expense of a "baby sitter." And it is us, who represent the overwhelming majority.

Our presence at your Dodger games would far surpass the "baby sitter" angle. You Dodger rooters had better lay a foundation for such a team before you can expect the Kingston public to support such a venture. . . .

In other words, before you can graze cattle you need grass. And, incidentally, we were staunch supporters of the Twilight League this year. We never missed a game. We could go to an early hour, take the children, see our neighbors and friends and really enjoy America's sandlot baseball. BUT, don't raise the admission, or we won't be there next year.

We are not cheap people . . . just low-salaried . . . just like the majority of the Kingston populace. I think you should publish this letter. It might give your readers something to think about. . . . Lots of luck. . . . TILLIE BUNN.

MULLIGAN MIKE SAYS: With John MacLellan shooting 112 and the custodian of "In The Pocket" blasting a horrendous 445, the bowling "experts" appear to be in shape for a big season.

Sheriff Smith Has Conducted His Office Efficiently and Is Commended by All Citizens

During Critical Period He Carried on Normal, Additional Duties Successfully

Three years ago when George C. Smith became the Republican candidate for the office of sheriff of Ulster county it was stated that "courage, efficiency and knowledge of town and county affairs are qualities which make George Smith of Pine Hill, the ideal candidate for the office of Sheriff of Ulster county." Now with his first term drawing to a close and as the Republican candidate to succeed himself, it can be definitely stated that during the past three years he has lived up to all of those qualifications which were predicted in the fall of 1944.

George C. Smith has conducted the duties of the office in a manner which has won the commendation of all, regardless of political affiliation. He served the people of the county during a critical period, while the country was at war, and many trying conditions were imposed upon the people of the county. During that period he conducted the office in a most efficient manner, carrying on the normal duties together with the additional duties which were imposed during war days. With the termination of hostilities George Smith turned over the government of the county to a peace-time basis. He sought, with the emergency over, to better the working conditions of the employees of the office and to remedy conditions which had existed for a long time in the county jail. In most of these matters he has succeeded, some of the improvements in the jail however have not yet been completed because of the lack of materials.

World War I Veteran
A veteran of World War I, when he enlisted in the United States Marine Corps, Sheriff Smith served in both France and Germany as a member of the 6th Regiment, attached to the 2nd U. S. Army Division, and saw action at various points along the American front.

During World War II, Sheriff Smith sought to be of assistance to his country and served as an inspector of ordnance for the United States army. For 19 months Mr. Smith was in charge of assembly and later was placed in charge of the firing range for the government at the I.B.M. plant in Poughkeepsie. Sheriff Smith's training in arms dates back to experience he gained when at the age of 19 he left Pine Hill and went to Hartford, Conn., where he was employed by the Marine Arms Company and later as a supervisor for the Colt Patent Arms Company. While engaged in work which was essentially related to the war effort, when World War I came he left the office of the arms company to enlist in the U. S. Marines.

This training which he received in the employ of Marlin and Colt served him well when he reentered the arms field in World War II. His ability was recognized by the government and he was sent to the Watervliet Arsenal where he completed a course in cannons and holds a diploma issued there by General Gillespie as a result of the course, a rating which fits him to work on all types of guns and in the inspection of same.

George C. Smith has served the town of Shandaken as a justice of the peace and for four terms he was supervisor of his town, a position which fitted him well for the administration of the office of sheriff. While a justice of the peace he gained a reputation for fair dealing and complete understanding of his fellowmen, qualities which certainly serve the sheriff of any county well.

Born in Pine Hill where he has lived practically all of his life, it was natural that at the close of World War I he again took up that residence in Pine Hill in order to be with his widowed mother and four younger sisters. His only brother, Capt. Basil W. Smith, gave his life in defense of his country during the Argonne Forest battle where he was serving as a member of the 77th U.S. Army Division.

Mr. Smith re-entered business in Pine Hill and served the village also as postmaster. In business affairs of the village and in civic matters he always took an active and leading part. He has always been highly respected as a good business man, a patriotic and public servant always willing to serve his community or his country. Mr. Smith is married and has one daughter.

Showed His Ability

Elected sheriff and serving during a very critical period of the country's history, George C. Smith showed his splendid ability to serve the public. It was during this term that many improvements to the jail were completed, improvements which had been sought by the government for a long time. Practically all of the criticism of the Department of Correction has been eliminated through the fulfillment of recommendations made by the department. Showers have been placed in all cell blocks and a new heating system has been installed. Much of the sanitary correction has been made, elimination of the old toilet not being made thus far because of the lack of material and inability to get necessary fixtures. Working conditions of the staff have been improved through a change from the old two shift plan to a modern three shift plan which gives greater efficiency and makes unnecessary the sending out of one man at night on emergency calls. This system has brought about greater efficiency, better cooperation and more harmony within the law enforcement bodies of the county.

Sheriff Smith also set up a new identification procedure for the classifying of fingerprints. This procedure in the office greatly facilitates the work by making possible a quick return of reports from the Department of Justice in Washington. Previously it was necessary to submit the fingerprints and await classification and identification. Classification is now done in the office, greatly speeding up the work of identification.

During his administration, the office of County Investigator was created, an office which long had been needed. The identification officer, while connected with the sheriff's office and under the jurisdiction of the sheriff, is also available at all times to assist the district attorney, county judge and the Federal authorities.

Vast Amount of Work

A resume of the work done during the month of September, a typical month, shows the amount of work which comes under the direction of the sheriff and clearly indicates the need for an office which long had been needed. The identification officer, while connected with the sheriff's office and under the jurisdiction of the sheriff, is also available at all times to assist the district attorney, county judge and the Federal authorities.

There were 40 arrests, 89 being males and one female. There were 66 summonses served and 10 citations received and served. There were also 13 executions, one levy and one garnishment. During the month the highest jail population was 43, of which 37 were males and six females. This large jail population presents a problem because of the limited cell space and the necessity of segregating certain prisoners under the State Correction Law.

Also during the month property reported stolen amounted to $2,550 and of that $2,276.68 was recovered through the work of the sheriff.

There were 110 jurors summoned, 60 grand jury subpoenas for witnesses served and there were three papers served for Children's Court. One prisoner was returned from Connecticut on bench warrants. The arrests made during the month were as follows: 15 for assault, third degree; two grand larceny; three petit larceny; four abandonment; three offenses against wife or children; three motor vehicle violations; one intoxication; seven disorderly conduct; one felony of other nature and one for a misdemeanor.

Sheriff Smith has also cooperated in the Police School where an eight week course is given police officers to better familiarize them with their duties. Two of the schools have been held in conjunction with the Kingston police chief and the F.B.I.

One of the policies of Sheriff Smith has been to have his office open at all times for the benefit of the people of the county. Citizens have always been encouraged to stop in at any time and freely discuss their difficulties or to seek advice. Sheriff Smith has been daily at the office, taking an active part in the conduct of the office and he is entirely familiar with all of the numerous duties which a sheriff of the county may be called upon to perform.

51 New Members In Senior Group At Local Y.M.C.A.

Fifty-one new members for the senior division at the Y.M.C.A. have been added during October, it was announced today.

As most of the winter activities commence during this month emphasis is placed on joining the "X" at this time of the year. Already the businessmen's gymnasium class has started with sessions on Monday and Thursday. The Senior Basketball League, consisting of 10 teams, played its first games last Wednesday and Thursday.

Each afternoon and Saturday morning is devoted to boys' work while Thursday evening is reserved for the women. Special swimming instruction for men is held every Monday evening.

The new members include Joseph Ausanio, John Alocca, Tony Albany, Rolin Bolard, A. Brinler, Jeff Brennan, Edwin Bahl, John Costello, James Dickerson, Ken Dyson, Charles Diamond, Howard E. Atomic Control Expert

Thinks War Can Be Avoided

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 18 (AP)—President James Bryan Conant of Harvard finds the Russians "hardly serious" in their efforts to reach an agreement on atomic energy control.

"But once they make up their minds they really want a solution," Conant said, "an international agreement would follow in a relatively short time." Dr. Conant declared last night.

The atomic energy expert pictured the world in a state of armed truce, but declared as "the height of foolishness" any notion that war with Russia was inevitable.

Conant addressed the 81st convocation of the University of the State of New York, a corporate body representing the state's education system. He received an honorary Doctor of Laws degree.

"Our hopes of converting an armed truce into an enduring peace," Conant said, "rest on the ability of the United States to be the leading partner in a serious global development of democracy as we Americans understand the meaning of the word."

"Agreement on the international control of atomic energy might be just the step required" for the conversion to peace, he added.

Doe Crashes Through Yonkers Bar Window

Yonkers, N. Y., Oct. 18 (AP)—Everything was pleasant and peaceful yesterday in Brophy's bar and grill.

Three men stood at the bar nursing their beers. Suddenly one glanced at the plate glass front window. His eyes bulged.

"Look out," he yelled—and dove under a table.

There was a crash. The window fell in and a 70-pound doe stood in the barroom.

The other two customers joined their companion. The doe leaped over the bar, smashing bottles, and dashed out the door.

A garage warden. Two mechanics leaped into a greasepit as the doe thundered through the door, out into the street again and into another bar and grill—this time by the front door.

Building Trades Wage

Increases Are Proposed

New York, Oct. 18 (AP)—Wage increases of 7 1/2 to 25 cents an hour for workers in 15 of 38 building trades have been proposed by the Building Trades Employers Association to the A.F.L. The proposed wage scales "the highest ever existed" in New York City's building industry, the association said yesterday it was seeking a stabilization agreement to stand for two and a half years and permit speedy construction of an estimated $1,000,000,000 in public and private building.

About 15,000 A.F.L. construction workers would be affected.

Eastern Forests Burn

Boston, Oct. 18 (AP)—Forest fires burned over wide sections of Maine, Massachusetts and Vermont today—the most spectacular sweeping the top of Mt. Tom in Holyoke, Mass., overnight—as a 33-day drought made forests in the area powder dry.
